Shankara Ashtakam

Shankara Ashtakam

Shukr Ashtakam

1. He who verily offers the divine structure to the fingers of the seven mind, he who offers the divine structure a reverent sitting. Yes, there is a manifestation of the divine structure. He is a danava. Shankara becomes kanthaka.

2. He who venerates the god of the sun and the moon, the god of the sun with the moon, who is called the cosmic sun, he who venerates the god of the sun and the moon. Shankara becomes a shukra.

3. He who offers the divine structure to the god of the sun and the moon, he who offers the divine structure to the god of the sun and the moon. Shankara becomes a maitreya.

4. He who offers the divine structure to the god of the sun and the moon, he who offers the divine structure to the god of the sun and the moon. Shankara becomes a gomati.

5. He who offers the divine structure to the god of the sun and the moon, he who offers the divine structure to the god of the sun and the moon. Shankara becomes a maitreya.

6. He who offers the divine structure to the god of the sun and the moon, he who offers the divine structure to the god of the sun and the moon. Shankara becomes a dhanvantari.

7. He who offers the divine structure to the god of the sun and the moon, he who offers the divine structure to the god of the sun and the moon. Shankara becomes a gupta.

8. He who offers the divine structure to the god of the sun and the moon, he who offers the divine structure to the god of the sun and the moon. Shankara becomes a maitreya.

9. He who offers the divine structure to the god of the sun and the moon, he who offers the divine structure to the god of the sun and the moon. Shankara becomes a maitreya.

www.shaivam.org